Few Sports Even Take Proposed Nevada Bout in a Serious Vein.

New York, N. Y., Jan. 12.—It's terrible junk they be listed by the boys now-adays when they sign up Jack Johnson to fight Jim Flynn in July for the litle in the sage brushes of Nevada. Many a well infarmed person in the wide United States holds highly embessed certificates of defunct gold mines that were located in Nevada. And at first slant it looks as if they are trying to sell a few more shares in the old bunco game when they hook up Flynn with Johnson.

Of course, it isn't a dead certainty that the battle will ever take place. Lil Artha is the rips cherry when it comes down to the publicity stuff, and this may be one more of his stunts, Flynn naturally is not averse to say notoriety that may come out of the press matter. For Flynn to whip Johnson the champion would have to lose his sight and the use of his limbs, James is always hustling and cannot be blamed for grabbing the match or promise of one. When they guarantee Johnson $31,000, according to the story, pickings look rather sparse for Jamesy, for, as Kablitzky says, "It can't be did."

for, as Kablitzky says, "It can't be pickings hook rather sparse for Jamesy, for as Kablitzky says, 'It can't be did'.

We are to have some more of the Mike Gibbons's style of fighting. The corking welearweight from St. Paul is going to tackie Jack Denning at the Fairmont A. C. on January 23. Denning is a classy lad and should make Gibbons travel at headleng speed. Every one that saw Gibbons in his few battles around here consider him a bear with the fancy stuff. Exception to this statement is made by the handlers of the men he defeated. 'He's overtated' is their cry. Where they set that stuff is hard to understand.

Discussing the proposed Johnson-Flynn match, Battling Keefe grew very much exclined. 'He's bunking the public,' he exclaimed. 'Why don't those champs imitate mer I'll challenge anybody, and am not particular whether they sceept or not. The game's see bad that if horse cars were not out of date I's go back to my old job holding it has bunking the proposed Johnson to real training for his coming match with Abe atted at the National Sporting club on January 18. Brown knows that he's going to face the most dangerous boy in the ring, and that Abe will do his best to beat him. The K. C. Lad is satisfied that his powerful swings will more than overcame Able's labs.

Wolgast gave Brown the overlock in selecting the most available lads to box for his little and Morgan conjured up it reasons for the champion's attitude. None of the aforesaid reasons are calculated to increase Wolgast's good opinion of himself.
